

A photograph showing a stack of six apples. The apples are primarily red with distinct yellow-green stripes and patches. They are arranged in two columns of three, with the top row slightly offset from the bottom row. The apples have small green stems and are set against a plain white background.